IN CONNECTION WITH
MILWAUKEE & MISSISSIPPI R. R.

SHIPPERS OF FREIGHT and the Merchants of the Upper Mississippi River are notified that merchandize for the various Landings marked to the care of the Milwaukee & Mississippi Rail Road at Prairie du Chien, will be received there on the Levee by the undersigned for shipment at Tariff Rates:—

One of which new and powerful side wheel boats leaves the Prairie every day at 5 o'clock for St. Paul, arriving there the next day at 12 o'clock A. M.

Merchants will bear this in mind in making their shipments, and as it is the intention of every one connected with this Route to make it a popular one, no delay will take place in sending freights forward.

A Railroad Celebration—By all Means.

We presume that the Committee appointed by the Board of Trade will find no difficulty in raising the necessary wherewithal to provide for the entertainment of the guests of our city at the proposed Railroad Jubilee. The manifest advantages to accrue to every business interest from the visit of a large number of the intelligent people from the more distant portions of our own State, and from Iowa and Minnesota, from which we are already getting the beginnings of a profitable trade, are such that they need no argument.

The Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R. Co., with a liberality which is none the less liberal because they see their own advantage in it, offer to convey all comers, to and fro without charge, so that the city will only see to their comfort while here. Let us have the Railroad Jubilee, by all means, then. Let a cordial invitation be extended, by a duly appointed Commitee, on behalf of all our citizens and the Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R. Co., to come and see us. We want to take by the hand some scores of wide-awake conductors of presses in our own State, Iowa and Minnesota, who have said many a good word for Milwaukee. We want the enterprising merchants to come and see our fair city, and make the acquaintance of our people.

Let us hold the Jubilee, by all means.

The Minnesota Convention.

The absurdity of the farce which is being played by the Sham Democratic minority at St. Paul, is clearly manifested, when it is considered that, without any members from Pembina, the whole Convention would consist of 102 members, of which a majority would be 52. If the Pembina members were legally elected, as the Democrats claim, the whole number would be 108, and a majority would be 55.

FIFTY-SIX Republican members are in regular session, conducting the business for which they were sent by the people, while about 30 factious Democrats, a few having left through shame, still meet and call themselves "the Convention!"

Berlin close at Hand!

We learn that the construction trains on the Milwaukee and Horicon Railroad are close to Berlin, and that the track will be completed to that handsome and thriving place in two or three days.

☞ Sheboygan in locality, enterprise, commercial importance, wealth, is entitled to as much respect and consideration from Milwaukee as Milwaukee can ask of Chicago. But Milwaukee has universally made it a point not only in Newspaper notices but in every other way to divert attention from Sheboygan.—Sheboygan Times.

Our neighbor city of Sheboygan is entitled to all the consideration which any city of our State deserves, and has received, in the columns of the Sentinel, its full share of notice, as any of our readers will testify, so far as it has been possible for us to bestow it. Whatever is lacking, is not the fault of the press of Milwaukee, for we know there are not five papers in the land which take so much pains to post their readers upon the condition and progress of the towns in the State, as do the press of our city.

And we say now, what we have been provoked to say before, that there are no papers in the State, in any important town, which furnish so little information to persons abroad of matters of interest to non-residents, as do the Sheboygan press. If we, in Milwaukee, do not publish the items, it is because we do not find them. We always carefully scan the columns of our exchanges for these items, and get what we can from the press of Sheboygan. Besides this, other towns furnish, by correspondents, information of interest, but we have not heard from a Sheboygan man since time immemorial.

The charge of the Times is unjust and ill-tempered.

SOUTHERN TEXT BOOKS.—Among the acts of the Southern Commercial Convention, held in Savannah last year, was the appointment of a committee of learned men to meet together to prepare text books for the use of students in southern schools and colleges. The President of the Convention, Hon. James Lyons, of Richmond, promptly and seasonably published a card, which was copied in all the southern papers, convening the members in Columbus, S. C., on the 13th of May last, but the Norfolk Argus says, "we feel mortified to have to record that not a single member of the committee attended." Of course they did not. A good text-book is a good text book wherever it is printed; and the idea that the "peculiar institution" needs an arithmetic or algebra, is too stupid to be acted on by men of learning.

☞ The Patent Office at Washington has received three thousand applications and issued fifteen hundred patents within the last six months. The income of the office for the same time has been over one hundred and sixteen thousand dollars, and the expenses of the office, including some improvements in the building, one hundred and eight thousand dollars.

The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution propose surrendering their present building to the Federal Government for a National Museum, as the Institution, under its present plan of operations, requires only an office for the transaction of business.

MORE CHEATING.—The News is still engaged in reading homilies upon the conduct of the people of Kansas, taking for its text articles from G. W. Brown's paper, which it calls "the most influential Free State paper in the Territory!"

BANKS TUMBLING.—The City Bank of Cincinnati and the Union Bank of Sandusky, Ohio, are reported as "shaky," while the Merchants Exchange Bank of Bridgeport is thrown out in New York.

ENLARGED.—The Portage City Record, one of the liveliest and best of our exchanges comes to us enlarged. The Record well deserves its success.

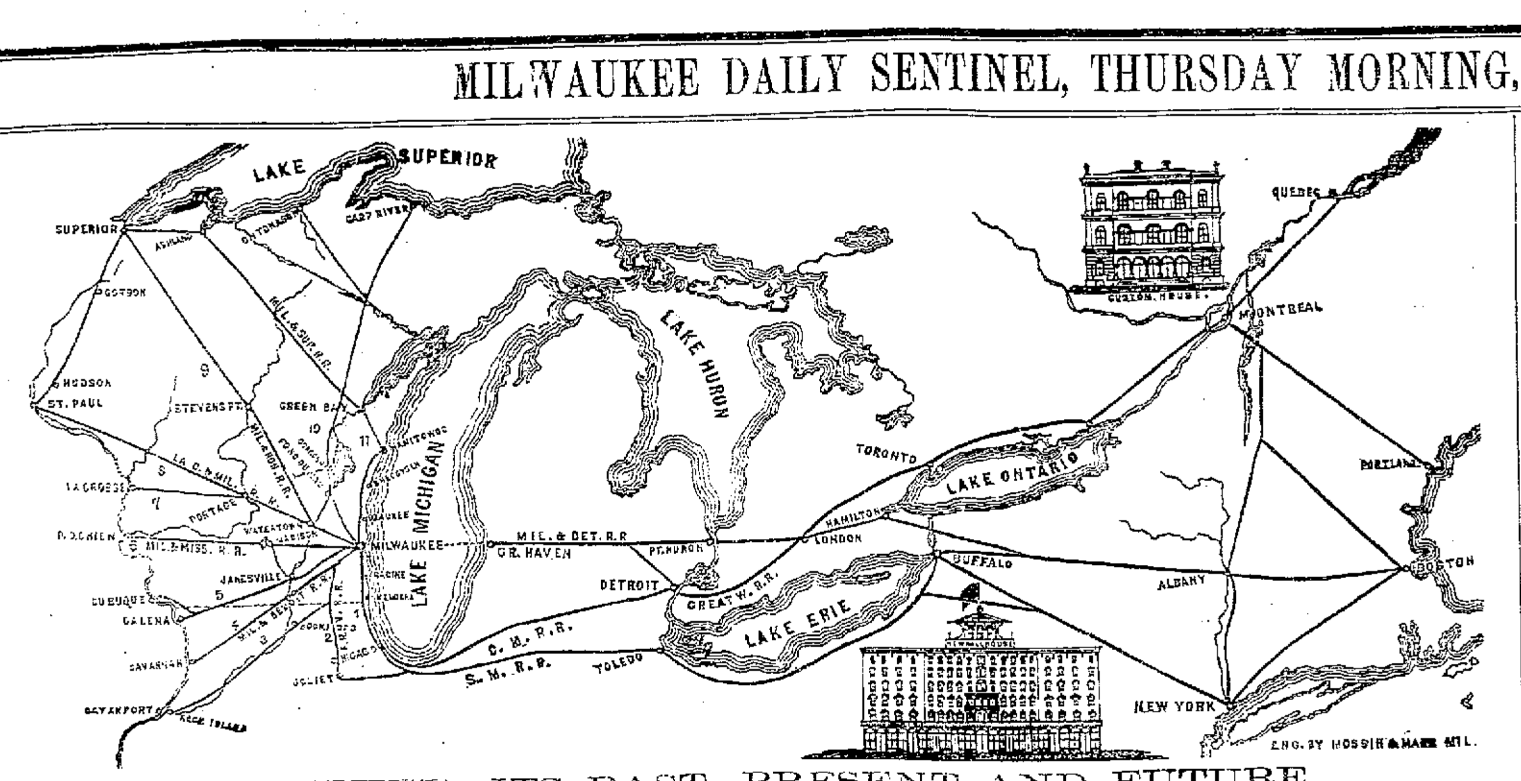
FAILURE.—Mr. McELRATH, one of the associate proprietors of the N. Y. Tribune, it is said, has failed. Dabbling in Pittsburgh City stock is assigned as the reason.

A DEAD PARTY.—The Madison Patriot, (dem.) graphically describes the malady which killed the democratic party in this State, and adds:

> Such is the fated malady that has overtaken the Democratic party of Wisconsin. It has been laid on thick and fast, with double coating—shingled, mortared, tarred, plastered, and rubbed in, until the party resembles more the ghost of a spring colt—dead, demised, deceased and done for, without skin, flesh, or bones—than anything having life, longevity, elasticity, vigor, vitality, or wide awake component parts.



MILWAUKEE; ITS PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

☞ We transfer to our columns to-day, crowding out much other matter for the purpose, the interesting sketch of Milwaukee, prepared for ERVING, BURDICK & Co's new Directory, just published. We have published an extra edition of the paper, so that those of our citizens who desire to send copies to their friends may obtain them at the counting room of our office.

For the purpose of enabling persons at a distance to understand the Railroad system of our city, alluded to in the article, we have procured the use of the MAP, got up by J. S. FILLMORE, Real Estate Agent, 243 East Water street. As the numbers upon the Map do not precisely correspond with those in the article, we append the following directory for the Map. Of course, in a map of so small dimensions, many of the important towns through which the roads pass cannot be laid down; and we make other explanations below:

☞1. Lake Shore Railroad, from Chicago.

2. Fox River Valley R. R., connecting at the State line with roads in Illinois, penetrating a wide farming country.

3. One of the connections of the last named road.

4. Milwaukee & Beloit R. R.

5. Southern Wisconsin—branch of the Milwaukee & Mississippi, in process of construction.

6. Milwaukee & Mississippi, completed to Prairie du Chien. (The artist, perhaps inspired by something of that admiration of the line of beauty adopted by the early managers of this road, has made a curve, or loop, of extravagant character. The air line distance between Milwaukee and Madison is about 80 miles, while the road, via Milton, 100 miles. The artist has neglected to insert the Watertown & Madison R. R., which will shorten the distance some 15 to 18 miles, when completed, and has inserted an air line, which ought to exist.)

7. La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R., completed to Portage City at present, and rapidly progressing.

8. Northern Division of the last named road, the north-west termination not yet located.

9. Milwaukee & Horicon R. R., to be completed to Berlin, about 90 miles from this city, in a few days.

10. Northern Division of the Chicago, St. Paul & Fond du Lac R. R., now completed from the junction of the La Crosse road to Fond du Lac, and being extended south and north.

11. Milwaukee & Superior R. R., extending north along the Lake and to Green Bay, &c., under construction. (From a point on this road a few miles north, the Fond du Lac Air Line R. R. leads off towards that city.)

The Eastern connections, via the Grand Haven Air Line Route, are plainly shown by the Map.

Sketch of Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, the commercial metropolis of Wisconsin, is of very recent origin. Though for many years the site of an Indian village and a favorite Indian trading-post, it was not until 1835 that any permanent settlements were made here. Previous to that date, the late SOLOMON JUNEAU, with his family, were the only white residents of this place; but the Sauk war of 1832 brought the then comparatively unknown Territory of Wisconsin into public notice, and the glowing descriptions of its beauty and fertility, which the returning volunteers and soldiers carried back with them, soon attracted a swarm of immigration to this land of promise. Milwaukee early became one of the favorite points of settlement, and its population rapidly increased from 1835 to 1837. Then came the results consequent upon the commercial disasters, and general derangement of business all over the country in that year, and up to 1840 Milwaukee, then numbering some 1700 inhabitants, remained almost at a stand-still. To this era of depression succeeded one of progress and prosperity, the town gaining rapidly both in wealth and population. In 1847 the number of inhabitants had risen to 14,061. Now came a second season of adversity. Wisconsin had three successive years of poor crops. The glittering temptations of California drew away many of her citizens.—Sickness and ill-fortune disgusted others and drove them back to the Eastern homes, whence they had emigrated to the West. It required, during those two or three gloomy years, a strong faith and good courage to struggle against hard times and discouraging prospects, in the hope of brighter days and better fortunes.

But these came at last. The seasons and crops improved; many of the California pilgrims returned, the wiser for their journey and better pleased than ever with their Wisconsin homes; the tide of immigration once more set in, strong and full, Wisconsin-wards; and now the whistle of the locomotive, that "open sesame" to the treasures of the West, began to be heard in our midst, and MILWAUKEE took its second start ahead. Business and population increased rapidly; real estate experienced a sudden rise; new buildings began to appear in all parts of the city; the demand for stores and dwellings grew clamorous, and landlords rejoiced in unheard of and hitherto undreamed-of rents. From 1853 to 1857, a brief four years, MILWAUKEE doubled its business, wealth and population, and is now growing faster in all three particulars, than at any previous period of her history. The following table exhibits the actual, or estimated population of the city at different periods:

1840	1,751
1842	2,700
1845	7,180
1847	14,061
1850	20,035
1855	30,061
1857 (estimated)	45,000

The location of Milwaukee is an admirable one for Commercial purposes, as it is for beauty and salubrity. Two rivers, Milwaukee and Menomonee, mingle their waters about half a mile from the Lake Shore, and flow together into Lake Michigan, near the centre of a deep Bay. This Bay, nearly seven miles wide and two and a quarter deep, fronts the east and is measurably protected, at the north and south, by projecting head-lands. A fine, high bluff, overlooking the lake and affording charming sites for private residences, follows the northern curve of the bay for nearly two miles, when it subsides into the valley of the Milwaukee river. A similar, though not so lofty bluff, extends northerly from the South point of the bay for two or three miles. The intervening flat is occupied by the business and manufacturing portions of the city. The warehouses and lumber yards fringe the docks; the foundries and machine shops occupy the level ground a block or two back; while the heavy wholesale and retail houses line the main business streets, which run next to and parallel with the river. The bluffs, which retire from the lake shore, as they approach the mouth of the river, sweep round to the west, forming an amphitheatre; and on these high and inviting grounds the private residences of our citizens are thickly clustered.

The Harbor facilities of Milwaukee, when the Improvements now in progress shall have been completed, will be unsurpassed by those of any port on our Lakes. The Milwaukee river, entering the city from the north, flows through it, with a gentle current, a nearly uniform width of 300 feet and an average depth of ten feet; to be increased, under a recent contract, to twelve feet, in the middle of the channel, all the way from its mouth to Cherry street Bridge. About a mile and a quarter from the point of discharge into the Lake, it receives the waters of the Menomonee; the latter stream having the capacity to maintain a channel 100 feet wide, and of sufficient depth for vessels drawing eight feet water, for about an eighth of a mile; and for vessels drawing six to six and a half feet water, for three eighths of a mile farther. Near the outlet of the Milwaukee river it is also joined by the Kinnickinnick Creek, the waters of which, just below the junction, spread over a large space, forming what is known as Commercial Bay; a wide expanse of water, well sheltered, and of almost sufficient natural depth to accommodate the entire commerce of the Lake. To this bay and the river, with its miles of dock line and its ample accommodations for vessels of every class navigating the Lakes, there are two entrances, the old, or "Government Harbor" and the new, or "Straight Cut." The former was constructed under the direction and at the expense of the General Government; the latter is, mainly, the work of the City. The Government Harbor is at the mouth of the river, and is formed by two parallel piers of crib work, 200 feet apart, affording a channel of sufficient width for two vessels or steamers to pass, and at the present time, twelve feet deep in the shoalest part. From this entrance, the river pursues a sinuous course to the north, first receding from and then approaching the Lake, for nearly three quarters of a mile, when it bends to the west.

At the point of nearest approach to the Lake and about half a mile north of the Government Harbor, the "Straight Cut" has been made.—This is 260 feet in width, 12 to 14 feet deep (when dredged out) and protected by parallel piers of crib-work, 700 feet in length, and running out into 12 feet water. It is designed to extend these piers from three to four hundred feet farther, reaching fourteen feet water in the Lake, and affording a wide, safe and accessible entrance to the river. As both the Government Harbor and the "Straight Cut" will hereafter be kept open and maintained in good order, vessels, or steamers, coming into port, will have the choice of the two entrances, and will find, in the reach of the river between them, as in Commercial Bay and in the river above the "Straight Cut," the amplest accommodations for receiving or discharging cargoes, as well as roomy and sheltered moorings. The Bay outside, moreover, is well protected by projecting headlands from some of the more violent gales which sweep the Lake, and affords excellent and abundant anchorage. These advantages it is designed to improve by the erection of a breakwater of rough stone, extending from the North Point, in a direction East by South, one mile, or more, into the Lake. Stone for the purpose is found close at hand; a reef running some distance out forms a natural foundation, and under the lee thus afforded, vessels can ride out, easily and safely, the fiercest storms of our tempestuous seasons. It is no exaggeration to say, in view of all these facts, that Milwaukee Harbor is the safest, the roomiest and the easiest of access, of any one on the entire chain of Lakes.

The Railroad system of Milwaukee, now in process of rapid development, is an important element of her growth and prosperity. That system embraces the following roads, all of which are either in operation, or under construction:

1. The Green Bay, Milwaukee and Chicago R. R., commonly called the Wisconsin Lake Shore R. R., extending from Milwaukee south to the State Line, and connecting at this point with a road from Chicago. This portion of the road, uniting Chicago with Milwaukee by rail, (a distance of 85 miles) has been in operation for two years, and is doing a large and lucrative business. The Milwaukee and Superior road, the extension northward of the Lake Shore road, is under good headway, and is expected to reach Cedarburgh, (Ozaukee County) 17 miles, this year, and Sheboygan, 50 miles, within less than two years.

2. The Fox River Valley road. This road runs south-west from the City, along the valley of the Fox River, passing through a number of important villages; crossing the Racine and Mississippi R. R. at Burlington; connecting at the State line with the Fox River road of Illinois, and through it, with the principal roads in that State; intersecting the Kenosha and Rockford R. R., near the State line, and thus forming a very direct communication between Rockford and Milwaukee; and giving the latter access to the richest portion of Illinois. Considerable progress has been made in grading the first division of the road, from the State line to Rochester, and the directors hope to complete the work within a year.

3. The Milwaukee and Beloit Railway, leading from this city southwesterly through Milwaukee, Waukesha, Walworth and Rock Counties, and connecting at Delavan, 49 miles, with the Racine and Mississippi, R. R., thereby forming a direct line from Milwaukee to Savannah on the Mississippi River, a distance of only 135 miles, and believed to be the shortest route that can be found between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi. At Savannah this road will connect with a similar road, already under contract, traversing Iowa and leading direct to Nebraska and Kansas. The Milwaukee and Beloit R. R. is well advanced and will be vigorously prosecuted. It is hoped to reach Delavan and form the connection with the Racine and Mississippi R. R. ere a twelvemonth elapses.

4. The Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad. This is the Pioneer Road of the State, and was but recently opened through to the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien. It runs in a general westerly direction across the State, inclining southwardly towards Janesville, which it reaches by a branch, and then heading northward again towards Madison, the Capital of the State. From this point west, it pursues a very straight course down the romantic valley of the Black Earth and Wisconsin, and debouches upon the Mississippi upon the broad and beautiful plateau of Prairie du Chien. The road is in excellent hands, and does a very large and steadily increasing business. It connects at Milton with the Southern Wisconsin R. R., which passes through Janesville, the flourishing County Seat of Rock county, and thence follows a straight western course through the southern tier of counties, to the Mississippi, nearly opposite Dubuque. A few miles west of Monroe, Green county, it will connect with a branch road leading to Galena, and built by the enterprize of that wealthy and busy city. This portion of the road is expected to be completed and in operation within the current year. The Milwaukee and Mississippi R. R. will connect, by this southern branch terminating opposite Dubuque, with the system of roads radiating from that commercial metropolis of Iowa, and by its main line at Prairie du Chien, with the McGregor, St. Peters and Missouri River R. R., running directly west through the best portions of Iowa.

5. The Milwaukee & Watertown Railroad.—This road, formerly a distinct corporation, is now consolidated with the La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R. It is now completed and in operation to Columbus, Columbia County, a distance of 62 miles from Milwaukee, and is to be extended to Portage on the Wisconsin river, some 24 miles farther.—This road passes through the flourishing city of Watertown, situated on the Rock river, one of the most important milling and manufacturing points in the State. From Watertown a road is now under contract to Madison, the Capitol, and its completion is confidently looked for during the present year.

6. The La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R., and the Land Grant road. This is one of the most important roads, considering its length, direction and different connections, leading into our city. The general course is north-westerly, and it reaches the Mississippi at La Crosse, about 200 miles from Milwaukee. The road is now completed and in operation to Portage City, on the Wisconsin, "the half way house" to the Mississippi. The western division, extending from Portage to La Crosse, has been put under contract; the grading is to be completed this year and the road is to be opened through by the first of November 1858. The same company which is building this road is the recipient of the munificent grant of land made by Congress to this State, in aid of a Railroad from Portage to St. Croix and thence to Lake Superior. The length of this road will be not far from 350 miles, and estimating the cost at $30,000 per mile, the company think that the lands will realize more than enough to pay the whole cost of the enterprize. Both at La Crosse and at the St. Croix termination, this road will connect with the Minnesota system of Railroads and will thus unite that nascent and vigorous State to Milwaukee by iron bands and the still stronger ties of social and commercial intercourse.

7. The Milwaukee and Horicon Rail Road. This is one of the most promising enterprises in our State. For the first 51 miles, to Horicon, Dodge County, it follows and occupies in common, the track of the La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R. At Horicon it leaves this road and takes an independent route, pointing farther towards the North, and passing through Waupun, Ripon, Berlin, (on the Fox River) Stevens Point, (on the Wisconsin) to Superior City, on Lake Superior, 325 miles from Milwaukee. It is now completed and open to Ripon, 81 miles from Milwaukee and will be extended to Berlin 92 miles, within the next two months.* At Berlin it will connect with Steamboats, plying up and down the Fox River, and at Ripon it will connect by means of a road now in progress, with Oshkosh and the Lower Fox. At Stevens Point it will reach the heart of the Wisconsin Pineries and secure the trade of the vast and inexhaustible agricultural, lumber and mineral regions of Central, Northern and Northwestern Wisconsin. At Superior City, its proposed Northern terminus, it will connect with the contemplated Northern Pacific Railway, and will form the air line from it to Milwaukee. This road has been quietly, promptly and efficiently managed, and is regarded with the highest favor by the business men and capitalists of our city, and by the residents along its entire route. It is doing an excellent business and making steady progress.

8. Milwaukee and Fond du Lac Air Line.—This road follows the track of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R. for a few miles out of the city, and then pursues a direct course to Fond du Lac, connecting at that point with the North Eastern Land Grant road to Lake Superior.

9. Milwaukee and Superior R. R. This is the extension Northwardly of the Wisconsin Lake Shore Road, and has been previously described.

Such is the Milwaukee system of Railroads.—It embraces no less than nine distinct lines radiating from Milwaukee, as a grand centre, and sweeping round in a complete semi-circle, reaching to Chicago on the south; penetrating Illinois on the south-west; debouching on the west at four different and distant points upon the Mississippi, and connecting, at each of these points, with lines of roads traversing Iowa, Minnesota and the vast regions still farther west; striking Lake Superior, on the North-West, and North, by three distinct routes, far apart from each other; and securing to Milwaukee, by this complete and comprehensive network, the great bulk of the trade and travel from Northern Illinois, Northern Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the Lake Superior Country. The City of Milwaukee, with commendable enterprise and foresight, has loaned her credit to the amount of One Million and a Half of Dollars, for which she holds ample securities, in aid of these various enterprises, and already begins to reap a rich return for this liberal and judicious investment. What gives additional value and great advantage to the system of Railroads radiating from Milwaukee, is her position as a Lake Port, and her connection, by means of a Steam Ferry upon Lake Michigan, with the great Railway thoroughfares traversing Michigan and Canada, and connecting with the New York and New England Rail Roads, by the shortest and most direct route that can be found. Milwaukee is 90 miles nearer by water, to Buffalo, Oswego, Cleveland, and all the Lower Lake Ports, than Chicago is, and must always possess infinitely better Harbor facilities than her Illinois rival. Grand Haven, directly opposite Milwaukee, is the Western Terminus of the Detroit & Milwaukee and the Port Huron & Lake Michigan Railways, which connect with the Grand Trunk and Great Western Roads through Canada, and will be completed and ready for business next Spring. The opening of this grand chain of Railways, all the way from the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic sea ports, to Grand Haven, on Lake Michigan, will bring Milwaukee directly into line, and make her the most important outlet and the heaviest receiving and distributing point, for freight, produce, and passengers, in the entire North West.

We have spoken of the Commercial and Rail Road advantages of Milwaukee. She is also destined to become a great Manufacturing City, and has already entered with energy and success upon this career. A dam across the Milwaukee River, some three miles from its mouth, supplies a fine Water Power, which is turned to excellent account. Five Flouring Mills are now in operation, which turned out last year, aside from custom work, about 120,000 barrels of flour.—The number of Foundries and Machine Shops in the city is now about twenty, employing, probably, a thousand men, and turning out work to the amount of a million of dollars. Constant additions and improvements are being made to these establishments, and the business is rapidly increasing. Brick-Making is an important item among the industrial pursuits of the city. Eight yards, employing three hundred to three hundred and fifty men, are engaged in this manufacture, and turned out, last year, thirty five millions of brick—not more than enough to supply home demand. The peculiar clay found in and about our city, has made the Milwaukee brick famous throughout the land, for beauty and durability.—During the past year, no less than twenty six Breweries, employing 500 men, and enlisting a million of capital, have been in operation in our city. Of these, a large proportion are engaged in the manufacture of Lager Bier, which is fast becoming a popular beverage, and is exported to Chicago, and other neighboring cities and towns. The amount manufactured last year was upwards of 75,000 barrels, and this year will exceed 125,000. Pork and Beef Packing are carried on extensively in our city, and the quality of both always commands high prices in the Eastern markets. During the past season, however, the home demand has increased faster than the supply, and Pork, this Spring, has reached in consequence, very high prices. Ship building is another element of our industrial prosperity.—The Milwaukee fleet now numbers 110 vessels, of an aggregate tonnage of 25,000 tons, and many of the best and fastest were built at this port. There are, besides, innumerable minor branches of manufacturing industry carried on in our city, to which in a hasty sketch, we can only refer generally. The aggregate value of all articles manufactured in Milwaukee, during each of the past three years, is thus stated in the last Annual Report of our Board of Trade:

YEAR.	VALUE OF ARTICLES MANUFAC'D.
1855	5,590,000
1856	5,357,000

Among the "institutions" of Milwaukee worthy of special mention, is her press. Probably no city in the Union maintains so large a proportionate number of newspapers. There are seven dailies now published here; five English and two German, to wit: the Sentinel, Wisconsin, Free Democrat, News, American, Banner and Seebote. Most of these also issue tri-weekly and weekly editions. The Atlas, another German paper, is published semi-weekly, and the Grad Aus, also German, is published weekly. Large and well supplied job offices are connected with several of the leading papers, and do a heavy business.

The reference to the press suggests the subject of public education. Milwaukee is already well supplied with schools and Academies of considerable pretentions. The system of free schools is incorporated into the Constitution of the State, and the munificent grant of the sixteenth section in every township of the State, for the support and maintenance of common schools, will, it is estimated, yield a fund of five millions of dollars. The income of this fund is annually distributed among the several towns and cities of the State, in proportion to the number of children between the ages of 4 and 20, residing in them respectively. There are seven public school houses, now completed or in process of erection, in Milwaukee, and doubtless one or two more will be built within the next year. These are large, airy, well arranged, and of handsome exterior. Several of them occupy commanding and eligible sites, and they afford, altogether, accommodations for upwards of 2,500 children. The corps of teachers employed is large, carefully selected, and liberally paid. The management of the schools is under the charge of a Board of Commissioners, three from each Ward of the city, appointed by the Common Council. This system is susceptible of improvement, as the schools require a more constant and watchful supervision than they ever receive from the Commissioners. Besides the public schools, there is a regularly incorporated University, a well endowed female College, and numerous private Academies and Select Schools, where the ornamental, as well as the useful branches of education are well taught. Large as is the aggregate number of these schools, they are generally well filled and fairly patronized. The State University, at Madison, and Colleges in different parts of the State, (two of them within an hour's ride of Milwaukee) afford ample facilities for completing the education commenced in the public and select schools.

The number of Churches in Milwaukee is even larger than that of the schools. It is believed that there are not less than fifty buildings occupied for purposes of Divine Worship every Sabbath morning. The Episcopalians have three Churches and two Missionary Stations, where services are regularly performed; the Catholics, six Churches; the Presbyterians, four; the Methodists, four; the Congregationalists, three; the Baptists, three; the Unitarians, one; the Lutherans, [German] six; the Scandinavians [Norwegian] two; the Welsh and Hollanders, one each; the Jews, two Synagogues; and other denominations, one or more churches. Many of these edifices are large and costly structures, and there is a degree of taste in the architecture and fitting up of the Churches, and a spirit of liberality toward the clergy in charge of them, which do credit to the citizens of Milwaukee. Religious services are now regularly performed in Milwaukee in no less than seven different languages, viz: English, German, French, Norwegian, Dutch, Welsh and Hebrew.

The usual number and variety of civic societies and associations, organized for religious, benevolent, or social purposes, is to be found in Milwaukee. Among these may be named three Orphan Asylums, two Catholic and one Protestant; St John's Infirmary, under the care of the Sisters of Charity, an admirably managed institution; the Milwaukee Musical Society, which gives frequently, during the year, Concerts, Operas and Oratorios, in the most creditable style; the Young Men's Association, now numbering between three and four hundred members, possessing a well stocked Library of 4,000 volumes, and occupying pleasant rooms, where a large number of the leading papers and periodicals, American and English, can be found; three Masonic and three Odd Fellow Lodges; several German and Irish Benevolent Societies, &c. Milwaukee can also boast of a well organized and amply provided Fire Department, and eight Military Companies, several of which cannot easily be excelled for discipline, spirit, or efficiency, in any of the older cities of the Union. Two Gas Companies, chartered by the Legislature, furnish the City with a very good article of Gas, at the cost of $3 50 per thousand feet. A Hydraulic Company has also been chartered and organized to supply the City with pure Lake Water. Numerous wells and springs, however, already furnish abundant supplies of excellent drinking water; and in winter large quantities of the clearest ice are cut in the river, near its mouth, and supplied to the public, at moderate rates, during the summer months.

Milwaukee enjoys, too, an excellent market. The Lake furnishes, for a large part of the year, White Fish and Trout, in great abundance and of excellent quality; while the streams and lakes of the interior supply pickerel, black bass, with now and then a trout from the Northern part of the State. Game abounds in the vicinity.—Ducks, English Snipe, Woodcock, Quail, Partridges, Prairie Chickens, and Venison, are all to be had in large quantities, in the several seasons. The prairie fed Beef is renowned for its juicy tenderness, and our Pork is as fat and sweet as can be found. Vegetables and the smaller fruits are supplied, in large amounts, by the numerous Market Gardeners, who are turning to account all the eligible spots for their business, for miles round the City.

The spirit of progress and improvement has never been so rife in Milwaukee as this present season. A very large number of stores and dwellings, as well as of buildings of a humbler class, were completed, or commenced last year, involving an estimated expenditure of more than two millions of dollars. Among these, the Newhall House, a first class Hotel, 180 by 120 feet and six stories above the basement, to cost $160,000. The United States Government buildings, for a Custom House, Post Office, and United States Court, to cost $125,000; the State Bank, and the Albany, costing each $40,000; the blocks of splendid stores erected by J. B. Cross, Inbusch Brothers, Mahler & Wendt and others, the new School Houses for the Second, Fourth and Seventh Wards, costing $16,000 each; and St Joseph's Church in the Sixth, the Methodist Church in the Seventh and the Spring Street Congregational Church in the Fourth Ward, costing each from $20,000 to $25,000, may be especially named. But the building this year will far exceed that of last. In every quarter of the city extensive preparations are making with this view, and even thus early in the season, (June 1st) the number of new buildings, in different stages of progress, as verified by careful and accurate count, is found to be as follows:

WARD.	NEW BUILDINGS IN PROGRESS.
First Ward,	115
Second "	128
Third "	168
Fourth "	136
Fifth, "	168
Sixth, "	251
Seventh "	86
Eighth, "	111
Ninth, "	261
Grand Total,	1,349

Besides this large aggregate, plans and estimates have been prepared, and contracts already made, for many costly and elegant stores, private dwellings, blocks, &c.; while the necessities of our rapidly increasing population are compelling constant additions to the number of cheap frame tenements in the exterior wards of the City.

Another satisfactory evidence of the rapid growth of the city, in business as well as in population, is to be found in the constant influx of capital from the East, and the frequent establishment of new banks and banking offices in our midst. To the eight banks in operation last year, two new ones, the Juneau Bank, and the Globe Bank, have recently been added; and several new banking offices opened. The banking capital of the City has increased about half a million of dollars during 1856, and now amounts to $1,500,000. There is still room, however, for the profitable employment of a much larger amount of capital, and it will, ere long, find its way hither.

We have thus briefly sketched the rise, progress, and present condition of Milwaukee, the commercial metropolis of Wisconsin. Its growth has been almost unprecedentedly rapid, but substantial withal: and its advantages of site, climate and position, as they become more and more widely known, must ensure for it in the future, even a larger measure of prosperity than it has enjoyed in the past. Its healthful and commanding location; its unrivalled Harbor, and almost unlimited river front; its great commercial and manufacturing capabilities; its net work of Railways, interlacing the whole State, and connecting on the East, South, West and North, with the railway systems of adjacent States; the fertile, salubrious, extensive, and rapidly developing country tributary to it; its energetic, industrious, and intelligent population; the vast diversity in industrial pursuits, and the value and variety of manufactured products; the certain employment, and the high wages offered to the skillful mechanic, and the rich returns ensured to the enterprising capitalist; the facilities for education, and the attractions of cultivated and refined society,—all these advantages combined must render Milwaukee a favorite resort and residence for the man of business, the man of capital, and the man of leisure. Its Lake front rivals in beauty that of Naples; the rich color of its famous brick lights up its business streets, and lends a brighter hue to its dwellings; thickly planted trees shade and adorn many of its principal thoroughfares; the Milwaukee river, flowing its midst, secures a thorough drainage, furnishes an abundant water power and commercial facilities, and forms a pleasing feature in the landscape: while the inland sea, which stretches away on its eastern front, 400 miles long, 80 miles wide, and 900 feet deep, supplies its market with the finest fish, cools and invigorates its air, and bears rich burdens to its busy port.—Seated upon an amphitheatre of hill sides and valley; with Lake Michigan sparkling at its feet, the Milwaukee and Menomonee rivers winding through its borders; the iron rails linking it to every quarter of the State; agriculture, commerce and manufactures, all enlisted in its service, and swelling its prosperity; Milwaukee may fairly claim the palm for peerless beauty, and hopefully contend for the prize of being first in wealth, size and population, among the cities of our American Mediterranean.

NEW YORK REAL AND PERSONAL ESTATE.—The Tax Commissioner's corrected list of the value of Real and Personal Estate in New York, as assessed 1856 and 1857, shows the following:—1856—real estate, $340,971,468; personal estate—$165,214,749. From 1856 to 1857, increase in real estate, $11,996,705; decrease in personal estate, $4,553,022 1856—total amount assessed $513,787,279 1857—total amount assessed. $521,132,952. Total increase, $7,445, 474.

GONE MAD FOR LOVE.—The Cincinnati Gazette says that a beautiful German girl, named Hannah Rootker, has just been taken to the Insane Asylum from that city, having gone mad from disappointment in love. The physicians say they never before saw so violent a maniac. Her parents refused to allow her to marry the man to whom she was betrothed.

"NOTHING TO WEAR."—The N. Y. Mirror states that a respectable clergyman from an up river town has recently been in the city claiming for his daughter the authorship of "NOTHING TO WEAR." He states that she visited New York last winter with the Manuscript poem and LOST IT.

☞ George Peabody offers $10,000 to the city of Newburyport, for any benevolent object its authorities may specify. Mr. P., since his visit to this country—about a year ago—has donated more than half a million of dollars; and yet so vast is his business in England, that he is said to have made more than that sum during his visit here.

FIRE IN BROOKLYN—SEVENTY HORSES BURNED.—On Saturday night of last week, the stables of the Brooklyn City Railroad Co. were burned, and about 70 horses destroyed. As fast as they were taken out of the burning building, they would rush back into the flames.

FIRST TYPE MADE IN AMERICA.—The first type made in America were made by ABLERT BUEL, at Killingworth, Conn., in 1769, and were used by him in printing a memorial to the Assembly, praying for aid in the establishment of a Foundry.

PORTAGE CANAL.—The Portage City Record states that the dredge is making thorough work in excavating the Canal, having a channel seven feet deep.

U. S. TREASURY.—The State of the Treasury on the 20th inst., was as follows.

Net balance on hand	$18,800,177
Receipts for the preceding week	2,134,725

PAPER STOPPED—THE REASON.—The Mazomanie Herald has stopped. The publisher gives the following among other reasons good:

> As we first told our citizens we could not publish unless we speedily secured a circulation of 400 or 500 cash subscribers and having only 65 of whose subscriptions, we have received $57,25 in cash, of which only $36,50 has been paid by people of Mazomanie, our readers will at once appreciate why we cannot publish any longer, seeing that our paper has cost us $281,71 in cash to issue it so far, without Printing material or office [illegible]
>
> As it is we shall not publish the MAZOMANIE HERALD any longer, simply because we cannot get our citizens to assist us.

FOR BOYS.—You were made to be kind, and generous, and magnanimous. If there is a boy in the school who has a club foot, don't let him know you saw it. If there is a poor boy with ragged clothes, don't talk about rags in his hearing. If there is a lame boy, assign him some part of the game which does not require running. If there is a hungry one, give him some of your dinner. If there is a dull one, help him to get his lessons. If there is a bright one, be not envious of him; for if one boy is proud of his talents and another is envious of them, there are two great wrongs, and no more talents than before. If a larger or stronger boy has injured you, and is sorry for it, forgive him. All the school will show by their countenances how much better it is to have a great soul than a great fist.—Horace Mann.

LATER FROM UTAH.—We have advices from Utah to the 2d of July. The Mormons had received tidings of the military preparations of the Government, but the news had excited little alarm. The tone of Young's organ is confident and boastful. Federal office holders are affectionately informed that Utah is not a desirable abiding-place for them, and that "they will not find it congenial to their health." Government appointments for Territories are denounced in unmeasured terms as a relic of barbarous colonial usage.

STORM AND FLOOD AT ALBANY.—Albany was half drowned on Saturday last by an extraordinary deluge of rain. The torrent tore up the paving stones and carried away boxes and barrels, whirling them toward the Hudson like so many straws. The storm lasted three-quarters of an hour, entirely suspending business and travel. The stores and cellars were flooded, and an immense amount of damage has been done.

COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT.—The Deputy Sheriff of Sauk County committed to the jail in this county, on Saturday last, one David H. Wyman, charged with passing counterfeit money on the Northwestern Bank of Virginia, in Baraboo, on the 21st inst. The officers are in pursuit of several others who are supposed to be engaged in the same business.—Portage City Record.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—Jas. M'Graw, a brakeman on the morning baggage train from this city to Milwaukee, was killed yesterday afternoon, at Genesee Bridge, by being struck by the bridge from the top of the train.—Madison Journal.

As no odor proceeds from the preparation, the glove can be worn immediately after it is cleaned. With a piece of flannel, apply a small portion of the preparation very lightly, and the dirt will immediately disappear. It is the article used by the Kid Glove Manufacturers of France to impart that purity of finish and softness for which their gloves are so justly celebrated. It cleans kid slippers and white and colored kid gloves elegantly. It is also an excellent article for the toilet, and for beautifying the complexion removing tan, pimples, &c., far exceeds in excellence any of the thousand and one preparations usually sold for that purpose. One trial, at the trifling expense of 25 cents, will convince any one that the article is all that it is claimed to be. Try a bottle of it for 25 cents, and you will never wish to be without it.—It can be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Fancy Goods in Milwaukee, and at wholesale of the sole proprietors CLARK & CO., 335 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. A liberal discount to the trade. As there is an inferior article in the market, buyers will be careful to see that the name of CLARK & CO. is upon each bottle which they purchase. je11e5743moHSS
